College Song

Words by Ms Zoe Hasslett

Verse One

Fling wide the gates before us,
For all the world's our own.
Sing on in mighty chorus,
To glories yet unknown.
The school upon the hill top,
The linden tree in spring,
Our hearts will still remember,
While Bendigo we sing.

Chorus

'Qui patitur vincit'
The challenge assures,
'He conquers, he conquers,
Whoever endures.'

Verse Two

Like stars from ages shaken,
The golden memories fall,
The passing years awaken,
The noblest dreams of all,
The lion guards forever,
The school upon the hill,
Wherever we may wander,
Her voice is with us still.

Chorus

Students Shortlisted for Student of the Year and Miss Florence Anderson Memorial Award

Samuel Graham

Sam arrived at BSSC determined to make the most of the multiple opportunities that awaited him. First step was to join the Student Leadership Team—where he promptly became Vice-president. He also put his hand up to be a student representative on the BSSC College Council.

On top of his commitment to his learning and academic success, Sam was President of SLT during 2023 and continued to represent student voice at BSSC College Council and Education Committee meetings.

He says these roles have built his respect for what it takes to organise events and manage a place as complex as BSSC.

Engagement, as one of the college's fundamental values, is seen in Sam as he led fundraising events including the 'Push-Up Challenge' and during Wellbeing Week, the 'Ice-Bucket Challenge' as well as the College Formal.

Perhaps you've been involved with Sam as he's fostered friendly rivalry between staff and students through the AFL footy-tipping competition? Somehow he's also found time to be captain of the BSSC State Badminton Team.

Sam has had to give speeches, act as MC, and represent the college at wider Bendigo community events.

Beyond the college, he's volunteered in the sporting domains of both badminton and athletics.

All these involvements have enriched Sam's confidence as a leader and communicator, and strengthened his time management, adaptability and decision-making skills.

To say that Sam has been thoroughly engaged in college life is an understatement, with his enthusiastic character being demonstrated consistently throughout his two years at the college.

He describes his time at BSSC as 'inspirational' and hopes he has passed this on in his classes where he's sought to be a positive influence on others.

"I want to thank the staff for assisting me to develop and be the person I am today."

Elise McGibbon

Elise McGibbon says she has thoroughly enjoyed being an active and participating member of the BSSC community.

You could even say Elise likes to be part of the action. Not only does she participate in signature college occasions, she understands the importance of being part of the crowd supporting her fellow students at events such as Open Mic in the plaza.

Her persuasive piece ‘Cashless Society’ was presented at BSSC’s inaugural Speech Night demonstrating her capacity as an effective communicator.

From the beginning of her time at BSSC, Elise grasped the myriad benefits of joining class discussions, attending revision lectures and took every opportunity to grow her academic knowledge. Her results demonstrate the rewards of her efforts.

She has taken every chance to enrich her self-confidence, leadership skills and emotional intelligence.

Elise champions honesty, self-reflection, humility, teamwork, empathy and creativity—and always tries to act on her belief it is essential we all take responsibility for our actions.

In line with this, she is mindful that her decisions do not negatively impact on others.

Elise has been employed part-time at Elmore Bakery in East Bendigo for three years and thoroughly enjoys the opportunities to connect with her colleagues, mentor new employees, and learn from more experienced staff—and give her customers good old-fashioned excellent service.

Elise has used her job in the same way she had used her time at BSSC: to craft herself into an ever-growing and ever-improving version of herself.

Saad Sabri

One of the great qualities of Saad Sabri is his commitment to engagement.

Saad has been part of the BSSC Student Leadership Team and was involved in all SLT events during 2023. He also grabbed virtually every opportunity that crossed his path.

He participated in the National Youth Science Forum, The Australian Mathematics Contest, the CBA's 'Partner a Class' program, the Debating Team and the Table Tennis Team.

He led tours on Open Day, helping prospective students and their families gain genuine insight into BSSC.

Beyond the college, Saad was welcomed into the highly respected Mensa society that links people with very high IQs with each other, and encourages research into intellectual development.

He continued to develop his virtuosity on violin through the Bendigo Chamber Strings, and he played soccer with the La Trobe Uni team.

Volunteering with the Rotary Club of Eaglehawk and the Discovery Science Centre have been important parts of Saad's world.

All this needs to be celebrated through the lens of Saad's personal situation: as one of BSSC's international students, he lives away from his parents and has had to adjust to many changes.

However, according to Saad, "The path to success is seldom without hurdles". He says he was able to settle into life in Australia through support from his student peers.

Saad looks forward to continuing his role as a leader as he heads into tertiary education. He believes leadership is not just about leading others, but also inspiring others to lead.

Annika Van Strijp

Annika Van Strijp has demonstrated admirable maturity through her commitment to her studies and her willingness to be open about her own challenges to making the most of her education.

Annika's Student Profile outlines how empowering it can be when, instead of giving up on education, you have another shot at success—in stepping up to be a role model in this way, Annika embodied the college value of Engagement.

She demonstrates respect in the way she interacted with her teachers and fellow students—happy to be a tutor in study groups, and wanting to inspire others to recognise the valuable opportunities that lie before BSSC students.

While the future is opening up before her, you could also say this has been Annika's year.

She has not only tackled VCE and triumphed, she's also participated in the CHES program—accessing first year Psychology subjects through Melbourne University—stretching learning to a wider horizon.

She's built leadership skills, sought to support others, promoted the value of the Wellbeing Team and has taken her own wellbeing very seriously.

Annika embraced the fact that physical fitness can make a significant difference to mental and physical health and therefore promote academic success.

Annika is planning a career that 'gives back' to the community through tertiary studies in Psychology.

She represented the college in professionally-made TV commercials, promoting the many benefits of VCE at BSSC to the wider community, and enjoyed the chance to highlight her positive experiences to a whole new audience.

Nissa Wakefield

BSSC students have so many avenues to develop a range of skills and enrich many qualities. Nissa Wakefield has seized numerous opportunities and ends 2023 with a list of accomplishments.

Never one to balk at stepping outside her comfort zone, this year's Vice-president of SLT has embraced leadership opportunities knowing they bring benefits for others too.

She hopes others realise her leadership role is not only about organising the many events SLT supported during 2023. From Nissa's point of view, being a leader is also about inspiring others to have a go at leading too.

Some of Nissa's contributions to the life of the college include helping to lead Graduation and the ANZAC Day ceremony, and representing BSSC at the public ANZAC Day event.

Nissa was a classroom host for Indonesian exchange students earlier in the year.

She also participated in the Australian Mathematics Competition and has recently discovered she's been accepted for the National Youth Science Forum which will be held in January 2024.

A keen runner, Nissa loves personal exercise that allows her to compete against herself. She also has a long history of involvement in numerous sports.

Nissa's family run a dairy farm near Lockington which was badly affected by the devastating Rochester floods. She decided to attend BSSC for VCE after the havoc left her unsure about the consequences for her local college.

"I sometimes wonder if BSSC students realise how lucky they are to have such amazing educational opportunities with such a broad range of subjects to choose from."
